Foreword

The 1971 Mennonite Yearbook consists of four major sections: (1) Church Organizations; (2) Statistical Section; (3) Conference Directory; (4) Ministerial Directory.

In addition you will note in the Contents four calendars that appear at various places and the article, "The Mennonite Church, 1971," by Howard Zehr, Executive Secretary of Mennonite General Conference.

The membership of the Mennonite Church in United States, Canada, and all other countries as of December 31, 1970, totaled 116,737 as compared with last year's total of 114,212, a gain of 2,525 over last year. The percentage increase is a little over 2.2 percent as compared with a little over 3 percent last year. Population growth is still probably around 1 percent in United States and perhaps a little higher in Canada.

As will be noted in Table V in the Statistical Section, membership of the Mennonite Church in United States increased from 85,343 to 88,522, while in Canada membership decreased from 9,412 to 9,016. In all other countries there was also a decrease from 19,457 last year to 19,216 this year.

The trend in church attendance is decreasing slightly. However, as church attendance decreases one would expect a decrease in church growth. In addition some congregations are bringing their church rolls in line with actual number of members in their respective congregations. One of the main reasons for this, in addition to updating church membership rolls, is the financial quotas that are set on the basis of church membership.

Sunday school enrollment continues to decline with an enrollment for 1969 of 118,273 and for 1970, 117,418. The highest enrollment was in 1964, which then was 128,883. This reflects a total decrease over a period of seven years of about 10,000. However, church membership continues to grow even though Sunday school enrollment declines.

We regret that one conference was unable to provide up-to-date data on membership, which likely would have changed the total membership figure.

We need to exercise care in drawing conclusions when comparing and analyzing statistical data. Perhaps trends are the important factors. These can be observed in the statistical section where memberships and enrollments are given over a period of years.

The 1971 Mennonite Yearbook comes to you updated as far as it was possible to do so. We are deeply grateful to all organizations, conferences, and institutions for supplying the information needed. Behind the figures representing persons and dollars are devoted church members who have committed themselves to the service of Christ and the church.

The Mennonite Church January 1, 1971

BY HOWARD J. ZEHR

Executive Secretary of Mennonite General Conference

The Mennonite Yearbook is more than a handbook. It is true that the greater portion of its pages are devoted to statistics, to organization, and to names and addresses. But these facts and figures are a necessary resource. And even though statistics cannot adequately represent the activity and growth of the people of God, they do furnish us with some norms by which we can evaluate progress and growth. The church is more than organization, but it must express its corporate life through structural channels. The Mennonite Yearbook does not claim to contain everything about the Mennonite Church. There are many persons, groups, and organizations which make vital contributions to the Mennonite Church's life and work, but because of limitation of space are not noted here. This Yearbook attempts to list those organizations, record those statistics, and give names and addresses of those persons which will most likely be needed by leaders and members of the church in carrying out their functions.

The Mennonite Church has always basically viewed its task as being person-centered, Spirit-directed, and service-oriented. The changing situations do therefore profoundly affect the church's life, thought, and activity. The very nature of the Mennonite Church's background and commitment will not permit her to remain neutral in the midst of great spiritual need, of war, of racial prejudices, and of physical suffering.

There is abundant evidence that the Holy Spirit has been leading the church, and that He has given particular gifts and insights to the leadership in these times. The decision of the church in 1965 to carefully review the church's nature and mission and thereby determine the organizational pattern that would best serve in carrying out this mission was not by mere accident. An inflexible organizational structure can become a barrier to the Holy Spirit's work. Therefore, structures must always be viewed as servants rather than masters.

Events of 1970

One sensed a mighty movement of the Spirit in the Mennonite Church in 1970. Mission '70 held on the campus of Christopher Dock Mennonite High School was an unusual event. A total of 2,480 persons were registered for the sessions held July 1-7. More than 80 strategy groups entered into serious discussion of what it really means to be obedient disciples of Christ in today's world and in our home congregations and communities. In addition, 450 children were involved in special children's activities. A good number of youth were also involved in this meeting.

A total of 1,722 young people, their sponsors, adult partners, and resource persons gathered on the campground of Lake Junaluska, August 16-21, and experienced together an unusual spiritual happening. Many made new and meaningful commitments to Jesus Christ, and returned to their communities and congregations literally charged with the Holy Spirit's presence.

About three dozen persons from the Mennonite Church participated in the first All-Mennonite North American Bible Congress held at Winnipeg, July 16-19.

Edward Stoltzfus was employed during the summer months to conduct seminars and conferences on the meaning of worship. A special program of race education was initiated.

A two-way youth exchange program was conducted with a team of five young persons — two from Brazil, two from Argentina and one from Uruguay — visiting communities in the U.S.A. and Canada. A team of five young persons returned the visit, visiting churches and communities in South America and conducting programs.

Mission Expansion

Dorsa Mishler, Personnel Secretary for the Mission Board, reported a total of 2,088 persons directly involved in the mission program through this Board with 1,612 of them serving on a full-time basis. The church contributed a total of $1,977,793 through this Board's program during the year, an increase of 7.1 percent over the previous year. In addition, sizable amounts were contributed to the Board for special projects such as Christmas Sharing Fund, Compassion Fund, and others.

The Mission Board has taken its task seriously and has tried to make its program flexible. It has endeavored to involve the whole church — minorities, women, youth, and others. Due to revolutionary changes, the Board is developing new strategies and has sponsored a series of Mission Forums to interact with conference and congregational leaders about new direction in mission outreach. David Shank of Belgium served as special resource person for a number of these events. While in the States he also ministered on each of the three college campuses where a special work of the Holy Spirit was evident through renewed commitments made by both faculty and students.

Education

The Mennonite Church continues to operate four colleges and two seminaries — Goshen, Hesston, Eastern Mennonite, and Conrad Grebel Colleges; and Goshen and Eastern Seminaries. The Goshen Seminary is now operating under a separate board of overseers as a part of the Association of Mennonite Seminaries, and is located on the Elkhart campus. Thirteen high schools and about sixty elementary schools are sponsored by the church either through conferences or patrons' organizations. About 10 percent of Mennonite children of elementary school age are in church schools. About 20 percent of the church's high school age youth are in church high schools, and about 55 percent of the church's college age youth are in church colleges. An increasing number of Mennonite youth are attending nonchurch colleges.

The Mennonite Board of Education is responsible for the control of three schools — Goshen College, Hesston College, and the Goshen Biblical Seminary, but is expected to give guidance to academic concerns on all levels for the whole church. This Board is concerned to help members of the church and its young people to think "Christian" in today's world. A serious study of the philosophy of Christian education has been undertaken during the past number of years, and is now about to be brought to completion. This involves the broad educational interest from congregational level through the various academic institutions.

Mutual Aid

A Mutual Aid Board was established by the church in the middle forties to both stimulate and serve the church in an organized caring concern for needs of the membership. This Board has been sensitive to the changing situations and endeavors to keep its programs updated in order that they may best serve its constituency. The Mutual Aid Board explores possibilities for programs of retirement, investment, and money management which may be needed by our people in addition to health plans, auto aid, etc. Since this Board has developed a fraternal organization, it also provides funds in lieu of taxes for significant new projects undertaken by the church.

Publications

Those responsible for the publishing interests of the church have worked hard in attempting to furnish leadership in these revolutionary times and developing polarizations. New kindergarten material was released for use September 1, 1970. An outstanding storybook, God Keeps His Promise, has developed as a part of this study material. New branch bookstores were opened in Kitchener and London, Ontario. A very significant increase in profit was realized during the 1969-70 year of operation as over against the loss experienced in 1968. The new hymnal sold beyond expectations. A total of 54,100 had been sold by the end of October 1970. A new graded lesson series will be revised and ready for release by September 1, 1971. Plans are under way for about 27 new books and pamphlets to be published during the next year.

The Meeting at Yellow Creek

An unusual experience of brotherhood and fresh manifestations of the Holy Spirit's presence were evident in the delegate meeting on church organization held at Yellow Creek, October 20-22. Action was taken to move forward in the proposed new structure. It is expected, therefore, that some rather major structural changes will take place during the year 1971. An important meeting is scheduled to be held on the campus of Rockway Mennonite High School August 16-19, 1971. The Constitutional Assembly will meet the evening of Monday, August 16, and continue in session both forenoon and afternoon of August 17. This group is expected to work through a proposed set of bylaws which shall then guide the church in a new organizational structure. The 37th and final biennial session of Mennonite General Conference is to be held in an abbreviated form the evening of Tuesday, August 17, and on the forenoon of August 18. Simultaneous meetings of the Mission Board, the Mennonite Board of Education, and the Publication Board will also be held the forenoon of August 18 in which each of these organizations and Mennonite General Conference will take the necessary legal actions to change the structures in accordance with the new proposal.

A new plan of organization will integrate the total program of the Mennonite Church, bringing the program boards together, coordinated under a General Board of twelve persons. This Board will then employ a general secretary and an associate secretary to facilitate its work. Five program boards will be responsible to carry the broader ministries of the church. The work of missions, education, and publishing will continue much as they are with the exception of the boards being reduced from their current size with representation directly from district conferences to elected membership of 12 on each board. Mennonite Mutual Aid will continue with its present organizational structure but becoming directly responsible to the General Board. A new Board of Congregational Ministries is to be established with a membership of 12 persons, and is to provide services to the congregations in areas of Christian education, stewardship, youth ministry, women's work, peace, evangelism, and other similar concerns, many of which have been provided heretofore through the General Conference organization.

The development of regional organizations will be encouraged where branch offices can be established, and where biennial gatherings of delegates directly from congregations can assemble to deal with issues and concerns of the denomination. A General Assembly of the church is expected to meet on alternate years with delegates coming from the regional meetings (or from conferences in case no region has yet been developed). The General Assembly will elect the membership to the various program boards, and will elect officers for the Assembly and the General Board. The program boards and the General Board will have one member each from each of the respective regions.

The year 1971 promises to be an exciting one for the Mennonite Church. The gathering scheduled for Kitchener in August will be a very historic occasion. The new organization is then expected to take immediate responsibility. The present staff of Mennonite General Conference will carry responsibility through the transition. Each of the boards will employ the necessary staff as feasible.

The last separate large annual Mission Board meeting is scheduled to be held on the campus of Eureka College, Eureka, Illinois, June 30 to July 4. Regional youth leadership training conferences are projected for 1971 to better equip youth leaders. Christian Citizenship Seminars are again planned.

The work of the Holy Spirit is becoming increasingly evident in the Mennonite Church. New wine seems to be bursting through the old wineskins. New structures are emerging to replace the old, providing more flexibility for the Spirit's work. New life is springing forth in many congregations and conferences of the constituency. It is thrilling to witness many of these occasions. New programs are developing and persons are finding a new freedom in the expression of their gifts. Space is too limited to record all that is happening. On January 1, 1971, one faces the challenge of the Mennonite Church with great excitement and expectancy.

Mennonite Church Financial "Askings" for 1970-1971

By J. J. Hostetler, Secretary of Stewardship Department
Mennonite General Conference

More and more Mennonite congregations are working on budget plans for giving and distribution of their funds. District conferences also set up budgets involving local congregations. In this plan the congregation shares together in a brotherhood way to determine where their gifts and offerings shall be given during the next year.

There are certain fixed amounts needed for the operational costs of the local church. Likewise our churchwide ministries build their program and services on expected receipts. They, too, have fixed costs for the maintenance of facilities, support of workers, and service to people in need. These are our extended ministries of evangelism, missions, training, healing, alleviation of suffering, and the nurture of children, youth, and adults.

The amounts suggested here serve as guides in building congregational budgets. Since many smaller congregations (less than 100 members) often have difficulty in meeting these askings, stronger and larger congregations are encouraged to exceed these amounts. While the askings have been slightly increased this year, all congregations are urged to rise to their potential with increased giving.

	Per Member amount needed each year
1. Mennonite General Conference — Provides services by commissions and committees in their work for the church; Christian nurture, youth ministries, peace and social concerns, church welfare, ministerial, stewardship, worship, historical and research. General Council and executive office.	$3.75
2. Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities — Includes foreign and home missions, relief, VS and I-W services, broadcasting, and Health and Welfare.	$35.00
3. Colleges (Undergraduate Higher Education) — Includes operating and building funds for Hesston, Goshen, Eastern Mennonite, and Conrad Grebel colleges. (Each congregation distributes its college education funds to the colleges in its own area.)	$10.00
4. Seminaries (Graduate Seminaries) — Includes funds for Goshen Biblical Seminary and Eastern Mennonite Seminary. (Each congregation distributes its seminary education funds to the seminaries in its area.) Seminary tuition fees are very low. The major part of the support for our seminary programs must come from our churches.	$4.00
5. Compassion Fund — This is a special above-budget asking to make possible additional ministries to people in poverty in our impoverished areas, city and rural. The Fund is to be administered by the MBMC through their Urban Racial Council.	$6.00
6. District Conference Needs — The district conference askings are so broad and varied that it is impractical to present them here. Congregations should check with their district conference officers or stewardship secretary for the exact figures for their conference. This figure usually includes the district conference and its mission board, secondary and elementary school (if any), mental hospitals, WMSA, camps, homes for the aged, Christian Workers' Conference, as well as other agencies the district may have.

Each of these churchwide ministries is equally responsible for its part in our missionary task and outreach. Each serves significantly in its respective assignment. Congregational leaders, pastors, and officers are encouraged to consider the "Stewardship for Mission" program in preparation for their annual business meetings and budget planning. Congregations having used this program report spiritual renewal and greater commitments. Write or call your district stewardship secretary for literature and counsel in planning.

*This table shows memberships of conferences and missions in various countries. Some conferences include the mission membership in their conference totals while other conferences do not. In order to show all countries where there are members of the Mennonite Church we have listed these countries with their memberships. We have also listed the total membership of each conference whether or not the conference has included the mission membership. Thus the total given at the bottom of the table is not the total of the column because duplication would result should the column total be considered the total membership of the Mennonite Church.

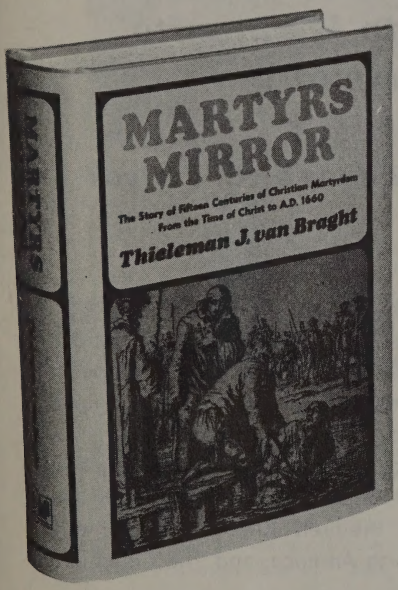
MARTYRS MIRROR

The Story of Fifteen Centuries of Christian Martyrdom from the Time of Christ to A.D. 1660

Here is a collection of the accounts of more than 4,000 people, beginning with the apostles who were willing to bear persecution and death in order to be obedient to Christ and His teachings.



MARTYRS MIRROR
The Story of Fifteen Centuries of Christian Martyrdom From the Time of Christ to A.D. 1660
Thieleman J. van Braght

Thieleman J. van Braght prepared MARTYRS MIRROR with the hope that the stories in it would inspire the reader to hold as tenaciously to his faith as did the martyrs. The heritage of bloodshed and persecution for the sake of a clear conscience and a pure faith grounded in the Word of God is the heritage of the Christian church. Such faith should challenge its descendants today to a greater loyalty to biblical teachings.

To read these accounts of court trials and martyrdoms of a people who expressed supreme allegiance to their Lord and Master is to learn that, come what may, the Christian life is one of supreme discipleship, of strict adherence to the way of life as expressed by Jesus and His apostles.

This is the biggest book produced by Herald Press. It weighs over five pounds, contains 1,158 pages, and was first printed in 1660 in Holland. It is a book of early church history which every Christian should have access to.

An Introduction to Mennonite History

Edited by C. J. Dyck

Here is a history of all the descendants of the Anabaptists found in the Mennonite and Amish groups. This book introduces the reader to the basic historical and doctrinal developments through four centuries of Anabaptist and Mennonite efforts to be the faithful church.

There are chapters in the book entitled: The Mennonites in Russia, The Mennonite Church, The Amish, The General Conference Mennonite Church, The Mennonite Brethren Church, The Smaller Mennonite and Related Groups in North America, and The Continuing Vision.

Here is a book of history that is thorough, yet easy to read. It was prepared as a textbook for use in high schools. It is complete, even includes a four-page index, an Anabaptist-Mennonite family tree, maps, and a chart showing the relationships of the various Mennonite bodies.

If you can purchase only one book on Mennonite history, this is the one to get. It has 400 years of history condensed to 324 pages.
